GENEVIEVE,

From the French of Hyppolyte Etiennez.

Translated for the Commercial Journal.

On the 22d of June, A. D. 1735, six noblemen, or persons styling themselves such, were seated around a sumptuously furnished table, in a fine looking house, situated on the Rue Saint-Louis, in the district of the Marais. The windows of the apartment, carefully closed behind their heavy, hanging drapery, shut out from the gaze of the curious, the mysteries of a night eminently Epicurean, and concentered within, the dazzling splendor of the lamps which illuminated it.

Among these personages, are two, upon whom, especially, we wish to fix the attention of the reader. The first, master Patrolle, was a young disciple of Esculapius. Ardent, ambitious and resolute, he had embraced, at the outset of his career, a mode of life, perilous perhaps, but one which has ever been an infallible way to success—the establishing of powerful connexions. Come good or evil, he had associated himself with the noblest and richest roysterers of the capital. Such a style of living occasioned to master Patrolle a great deal of expense, and master Patrolle was not rich; but, at the start, he had devoted his patrimony as a sacrifice to the realization of his idea. He was willing to be a ruined man, in five years, in the hope that he would be amply repaid by being perfectly well known; and, in furtherance of his design, he was giving, this day, the splendid repast at which we are about to be present.

The other individual was a man of fine and distinguished appearance, which did not prevent him, however, from manifesting the most charming affability of manners, and a strong predisposition for pleasure. In addressing him, his companions gave him the title of Prince; and, in the absence of more precise intimations as to his rank, we will also designate him under this honorable appellation.

The repast was at first, as it usually is in such cases, grave and silent; but, by degrees, the conversation grew animated, and soon became so boisterous that the supper, which was really the object of the meeting, appeared at last only the pretext for it.—Mutual confidences were made without the slightest reserve; they recounted to each other their good fortunes and amorous exploits, and Heaven knows what they were in that age of good fortunes and exploits par excellence!

"Parbleu!" suddenly exclaimed the Prince, who skilfully threw his exclamation into the midst of a silence, occasioned, probably, by the recital of some extraordinary adventure, "I must tell you a singular incident."

Immediately every eye was drawn from the last speaker and turned eagerly toward the one who had thus resolutely entered the lists.

"Something less than a year ago," resumed the Prince, "I was returning from Versailles in company with the Chevalier de Montvillain, who had accepted a seat in my carriage. We were crossing the square of Louis the Great, when we perceived a great concourse of people at the foot of the statue. Wishing to ascertain what it was that attracted the attention of the crowd, I ordered the coachman to stop.

"In the midst of the people, we saw a young girl, dressed in a style as singular as it was elegant. She was without any head-dress, her black hair, without powder, was ornamented with numerous long golden pins, at the end of which were suspended pearls as large as hazel-nuts, which swayed to and fro, at every one of her movements, in the most graceful manner. She wore a black velvet boddice admirably well fitted, and fastened on her bosom with a silver cord; her petticoat was of red satin, reaching scarcely below the knees. We were at too great a distance to appreciate the beauty of her countenance. Still, when she accidentally turned towards us, it seemed as if we saw the glittering of a line as white as pearl, and two points as dazzling as stars, which were doubtless her teeth and eyes. Near her we perceived a young man no less elegant and remarkable. He had on, cavalierly inclined over one ear, a large Spanish hat, from which there fell on his shoulders and breast, a kind of cap made of yellow silk thread, which gradually growing less and less, at length terminated in a tassel composed of threads of various colors. A jacket of embroidered cloth and white leather nether garments, completed his attire. I enter in all these details, because, probably, you never have seen similar costumes, and in order that you may comprehend the curiosity that this strange spectacle excited in us."

"Pardieu!" said one of the guests self-conceitedly, "it is the Castilian costume."

"Exactly so," replied the Prince. "I had forgotten that you had made the campaign of Spain. Still the chevalier and I, who never had seen Spanish dresses but at the theatre, did not know it, and our astonishment was, for this reason, no less. After some preliminaries, which we did not well understand, we saw, finally, the crowd draw back and its circle increase, the young girl took castanets and the young man a tamborine, they placed themselves down before the other, lifting their instruments above their heads; then suddenly, with the accompaniment of a lively and noisy music, they commenced dancing, but in such a singular manner, and with such graceful postures, that we were entirely transfixed with admiration—this lasted about ten minuets, after which, the young girl, taking the tamborine of her partner, advanced towards the spectators, to make a collection. I was about ordering the coachman to drive on, when a soft and vibrating voice suddenly caught my ear and called me back to the door of the coach.—What I felt at that moment would be impossible to describe. It was a hallucination—an ecstacy—an I do not know what! Never had I seen anything so beautiful, so marvelous, so adorable, so perfect!"

"What was it then?" asked the doctor, who flatteringly, wanted to applaud the theatrical effect which the nobleman evidently desired to produce.

"The girl, doctor, the girl"

In uttering those words the Prince struck violently on the table; and immediately resuming his story with increasing animation:

"Yes!" said he, "the girl!" She was then quite breathless, with flushed countenance, her sparkling eyes darting on me, her white hand resting on the panel of the carriage, smilingly awaiting the payment of my tribute to her grace and beauty.

"My lord," said she, astonished at my silence and bewilderment, "are you not satisfied with Gianetta?"

"My lovely child," answered I, in depositing a handful of louis on the tamborine; "this is for your talents, but if you will come to-morrow morning to Carnavalet-House, I have a million to give you in exchange for your heart." And, by Jupiter! I would have done it; yes, I would!

"My lord," answered she, "Gianetta's dancing belongs to the public, but her heart to Felippo"

"Saying this she made a profound bow and ran as lightly as a deer, towards the dancer. He doubtless was the happy Felippo! I did not regard myself as beaten, notwithstanding. I had in my service an attendant of rare and invaluable intelligence; I ordered him to leave his place behind the coach and follow the young girl to her residence; I then drove off; but it was all over with me: I was smitten, mad, desperately in love!

"When, in the evening, Germain—that is my attendant's name—returned home, he knew the residence of Gianetta. She lived in an apartment in St. Maur street; the young man's name was Esteban, which certainly had no resemblance to that of Felippo."

This information gave me a great deal of uneasiness; I did not know with what rival I had to do; and in adventures of this sort, one likes to be acquainted with such a person, therefore, I was very anxious to discover who the deuce was this signor Felippo.

"Whilst Germain was relating his discoveries, the Chevalier de Montvillain, who had desired to wait for his return, smiled banteringly."

My dear Prince, said he, I rather think that you are about to lose your time and give yourself a great deal of unnecessary trouble.

"The manner in which he uttered those words, caused me to think that the chevalier knew more than he wished to disclose, and I began to repent that I had not better concealed my feelings, in his presence.

"But," said I, examining him attentively, "what makes you think so?"

"Oh! corbleu, nothing, it is only my idea."

"Your idea! your idea! pardieu, my dear chevalier, you provoke me! will you make a bet? I will lay you a thousand louis, that before three months, from this day—"

"I accept," eagerly exclaimed the chevalier. "My purse is rather at a low ebb, and I must confess that I never was more in need of winning a bet than now."

"The eagerness with which Montvillain accepted the wager, increased my suspicions, but I had given my word, he had taken me up, and I could not recede. We shook hands in token of our agreement.

"On the following day, Germain disguised himself, and again set to work. At first, he was not very successful; but at length he returned one day, highly elated,—he had discovered Felippo.

"Felippo was a young Spaniard, whom our two friends had met with in the streets of the city, and, being fellow-countrymen, having the same customs and language, an acquaintance sprang up between them, which soon ripened into the most intimate friendship.

"As I now knew every thing that was necessary, and was acquainted with the strength of the garrison, I resolved to commence the siege.

"I can not tell you the amount of time, of money and of stratagem, which I expended in this enterprise; but a cunning spirit seemed to counteract, purposely, all my manœuvres. In fine, the three months were about to expire; I already saw my thousand louis in the pocket of that accursed chevalier, when, one fine morning, the very one preceding the day on which the fatal period was to terminate, I saw Germain enter joyously.

"My lord," said he, "Gianetta goes this evening to the Opera-ball."

"To the Opera-ball!" cried I.

"Yes, my lord, she will wear a black domino, fastened with rose-colored satin ribbons."

"With rose-colored satin ribbons!"

"Nothing more was necessary; I was saved. When evening came, I was one of the first to arrive at the Opera. My carriage, and four of my most resolute domestics were awaiting me in the Rue St. Jaques. They were completely disguised, and I, myself, was enveloped in a domino of a dark color.

"I had already promenaded some time, eyeing carefully all the masks as they entered, successively, the hall, when suddenly I felt some one seize my arm, and turning around, I discovered myself in the presence of a great devil of a Triton, who, if he had not the majesty of a god, had, at least, the stature of one.

"My dear Prince," said he, "will you be so kind as to do me a service?"

"By the voice, I recognised the Duke de Laon.

"Ah! good evening, my lord Duke," answered I, "I had well nigh not recognised you; as if, with a stature like yours, one could disguise himself. Indeed, the Duke de Laon is, undoubtedly, the tallest man in France.

"Well," resumed I, "what is your wish?"

"I have an assignation here, to night, with the wife of Vauguyon, but I fear that the Duchess de Laon following her praise-worthy custom, will again spy me out and recognise me. If you see her, just be so kind as to distract her attention."

"Pardon me, my lord Duke, but I, myself, am here on an adventure which demands all my attention and care."

"Well, well, Prince—do not put yourself to any inconvenience, then. I see a person who will do me this favor. Au revoir."

"By the by, the Duke de Laon is on very bad terms with the Duchess; and she, who, I think, loves him sincerely, enraged at the numerous infidelities of her spouse, sometimes plays him some tricks which greatly divert the court and the city. But this was not my business; so I continued my investigations.

"In about an hour, I saw a black domino, fastened with rose-colored ribbons, make its appearance. At the light of it, I felt my heart leap in my bosom; and I was nearly frightened at my own designs. The domino glided into the crowd, and walked round the hall several times, casting a curious and astonished glance around her. Gianetta, in truth, for it certainly was she—I recognized her by her gait, by her grace, by the fire which escaped from the openings of her mask,—Gianetta, I say, appeared greatly surprised at this crowd, this noise, and these costumes so new to her. At length, she went out; I followed her cautiously, at a distance; she walked for some time along the Rue Saint Honore; and as she was crossing the Rue Saint Jaques, I gave a whistle, so shrill, that I saw her tremble. Immediately four men approached her, clapped a handkerchief to her mouth, and bore her to my carriage."

"Bravo! bravo!" exclaimed all the revellers at once.

This conduct was in such perfect accordance with the manners of the times, that each only saw in it an admirable trait of skill and daring. During some minutes nothing was heard but compliments and felicitations,

"My lord," said master Patrolle, rising and filling all the glasses (they had dismissed the servants at the commencement of these recitals,) "you require an instant's rest; permit me to profit of it, in order to drink in honor of your triumph. Then, you can finish the history of Gianetta."

Immediately the guests arose. The Prince lent himself with perfect sang froid to this oration. They gave, in his honor, many boisterous toasts; after which each one having taken his seat.

"Well, Prince, well, go on," was heard from all parts of the room.

"Ah, well! my friends," said the Prince coolly, putting his glass on the table, "it was not Gianetta."

The surprise produced by this unlooked-for development; cannot be expressed; the guests looked at each other, in order to strengthen themselves in their common incredulity.

"No, gentlemen," resumed the prince, again taking his seat, "it was not Gianetta. The following morning early, Montvillain entered my apartments."

"Chevalier, said I sneeringly, you bring the thousand louis!"

"I come for them," said he.

"How! you believe, then, that I have not won my bet?"

"Upon my word, my dear Prince, I doubt it."

"Well! undeceive yourself. Two hours ago, I had a tete a tete with the lovely creature, and in proof of it, here is the chain of Gianetta. At these words: the Chevalier laughed so heartily and so naturally, that I could not grow angry."

"In the first place," replied he, "that chain is not Gianetta's; in the second, Gianetta has not left my side since yesterday, for I am Felippo."

A long silence followed this last avowal, the astonishment was at its height. At length, after a moment, reflection, the doctor resumed the conversation:

"Well! my lord, said he, and this woman whom you carried off?"

The Prince shrugged his shoulders.

"You have seen her since?"

"Never."

"You have learned, at least, who she was?"

"Never."

"How? you do not possess any means of finding and recognizing her?"

"Pardon me! I have one,—the chain, of which I have spoken to you. To this chain, was a medallion, which was broken in the effort which I made to obtain it. The fracture, even, is singular enough. You see here—"

Thus speaking, the Prince drew from his pocket the chain in question, and placed it in the hands of the Doctor.

"Indeed," said master Patrolle. "But it is a miniature!"

"Yes, it is a miniature. It is very unfortunate that it was not broken a few lines lower; I would, then, have had in my possession the entire head."

"And if we judge of it by the eyes?"

The Prince made a gesture of indifference.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

The Twelve Months' Notice.

The motion to make Mr Ingersoll's bill of notice the special order of the day for the first Monday in February, failed for want of a majority of two-thirds. The vote was one hundred and two to eighty-two—a majority of twenty in favor of deferring action on the bill until February. In the meantime the subject is before the Committee of the Whole.

"Assuming as we do," says the N. Y. Courier, "that reflecting men of all parties do really deprecate war, and could only be brought to the stern necessity of embarking in it by the conviction that in no other way could our honor and our rights be vindicated—we call upon such men, and upon all who share our apprehensions to unite in the call, to use their influence at least to delay the adoption by Congress, or either house of Congress, of any of the propositions now before it—either for giving the twelve months' notice to Great Britain, or for extending the jurisdiction of our laws over our citizens in Oregon, or for increasing our military force with a view to occupying posts on the route to, and within, that territory."

The desire for delay is expressed in the expectation that the arrival of the President's Message will cause a more favorable disposition on the part of the British Government to resort once more to negotiations. This favorable disposition, it is supposed, will arise from the fact that Mr. Polk had offered the forty-ninth parallel. After the previous declaration by the President of our unquestionable right to the whole of Oregon, and the vehement language of the Washington Union about all or none, the Courier thinks that it will have taken men by surprise on the other side of the Atlantic, as it did upon this, to find that we had actually offered a partition of the territory.

The Courier seems to forget that the offer of the forty-ninth parallel by Mr. Polk was known in England last September. The Message first made the facts known in this country; but the London Times announced it some time before the delivery of the Message. The offer and rejection were both known in England, while Mr. Polk's assertion of a "clear and unquestionable" title and the Union's vehement language about the whole of Oregon or none, were before the British public.—The Message therefore has not added any thing to the knowledge of the British on this point nor any thing to their surprise.

Nevertheless, it is proper enough to wait until the reception of the Message in England is ascertained, because the question can assume no definite aspect until that fact is known, with its results. It is proper to do this unless the Administration means to carry out its purpose of occupying and possessing Oregon irrespective of all other considerations. If it intends to do that, then it need not wait. The question, in that case, is no longer a question; it becomes closed and nothing remains but action.—Balt. American.

Sad Affray.

The Vicksburg Sentinel of the 24th ult., states that the younger Mr. Hanna, of the auction house of Livingston, Hanna & Co., was shot at and seriously wounded in his own store the day previous, by a man named Hoovers. There had been some dispute about the fineness of a pencil case sold the latter which led to the unfortunate affair. But little hope was entertained of the recovery of Mr. Hanna, who was hit in the side and small of the back with some five or six buck shots. Hoovers had been committed for examination.

The way McNulty Escaped.

A law of Congress provides, that, when a public officer, holding public money, shall refuse to pay it upon the requisition of the Secretary of the Treasury, the refusal shall be held prima facie evidence of embezzlement. The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald gives the following account of the manner in which McNulty in defiance of this law, escaped conviction:

The Secretary of the Treasury did make such requisition upon the accused, but the misfortune is, that it was after he had ceased to be a "public officer." Had the House only retained the accused in office until the Secretary of the Treasury had made his requisition, the case would have met the full scope and penalty of the law. But, the accused ceasing to be "a public officer," the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, as exercised upon a private citizen, was absolutely a farce.—Money or no money, the accused may thank his stars for his summary discharge from the House.—In ceasing to be a public officer, he ceased to be amenable to the act of '41, and has escaped the penitentiary through this loop hole in the law.

The Jockey and the Judge.

A judge who was not very celebrated for his humanity, being on the western circuit of England, wanted a pair of carriage horses, and sent to Exeter, where a couple were found and taken on trial. During the term of probation one of them unfortunately died, and the judge sent for the dealer to communicate the disaster, as well as to learn the extent of the pecuniary loss. Upon the job master making his appearance, the judge said, "Well, Mr. ———, this is an unfortunate business: what is to be done?" The dealer stroked down his forelocks, and with a professional bow replied, "It is indeed unfortunate, my lord; but I were sure them hanimals 'ould never live long, as soon as I know'd your lordship had 'em on trial."

The Distance to Oregon.

The actual distance to be called from N. York to the mouth of the Columbia river, by way of Cape Horn, is estimated at 15,000 miles. A ship canal to Panama, to be cut through the isthmus of Panama, which is only 37 miles, or more than one half the distance, reducing the voyage out and back to less than the time now required to make the passage out. The distance from New York to the mouth of the Columbia river by land is about 3,700 miles.

Indiana again.

The belief gains ground daily, that Indiana is determined at once to enroll her name among the debt-paying States.

The "Democrats" at a county convention in Laport county, boldly declared that the State is able to pay—that provision out to be made for payment, and they instruct tqeir representatives accordingly.

Mr. Levin followed on the same side; after which the committee rose.

The bill continuing the office of Commissioner of Pensions, was passed

☞ If there be a pleasure on earth which angels cannot enjoy, and which they might almost envy man the possession of, it is the power of relieving distress. If there be a pain which devils might pity man for enduring, it is the death-bed reflection that we have possessed the power of doing good, but that we have abused and perverted it to purposes of ill.

ANOTHER GRAND RUSH for Gold Pencils at Barrows & Turner's. The last lot receiving and selling off to close the stock. Those persons who are not supplied will now meet with the last opportunity, as we do not intend to continue in the trade, therefore, those that we have will be disposed, and no more received.

The assortment is "first rate" made up of the different sizes made, suited to the wants of every person, and in quality, we warrant them equal to any in use.

Buyers at wholesale may never again meet with the like opportunity—the stock will be disposed of in lots to suit the customers, and at prices less than can be purchased elsewhere.

Signs of the Times.

We publish a communication headed Christian Union, by "James." We do not know in what manner these "Unions" may be conducted, and cannot and do not express any opinion in regard to them. But the object of uniting men in a great brotherhood of love and peace, is most undoubtedly good and praiseworthy; and such attempts we believe, must, eventually, lead to beneficial results.

We take this occasion to express our conviction, that within the last few years, an immense advancement and reform have taken place in public sentiment. Mobs are not now, considered with the same popular favor that they used to be; and the great mass of the people, have a mere abiding and realizing sense, that was customary heretofore, of the true dignity of human nature, and of the elevation which providence intends as the destiny of the race of man on earth. Mankind are actually imbibing the opinion that the Divine Kingdom must come on earth, as in heaven; and that it must be introduced by the instrumentality of human means, under the direction or guidance of the Supreme Ruler, like all other events in the universal government of the Most High. Accordingly we see or hear of persons, every where, advancing in the march of reform, and even making a present sacrifice of their worldly reputation and interests in order to bring in, or help forward this work.—That good must come out of there efforts, no one can deny.

The commencement of this moral reform, it is not improbable, began with the temperance movement. An immense number of strong minded men, among the working people, who, prior to the temperance reform, employed their talents in tumultuous and noisy merry-making or pernicious riot, withdrew from their former evil haunts, and threw their powerful minds into the noble and exalting attempts, which were organized, to rescue their companions and their brethern of the human family, from the enslaving vice of strong drink. But this very attempt, drew along with it, many other blessings; and upon trial, it was ascertained that working men were formed with talent and genius as other members of the one great tribe or generation of man. Feeling themselves to be men and worthy of as high advancement as any men whatever, the very consciousness of this thought, struck off the fetters, which seemed, before, to have bound their minds.

This advancement in the mental and moral energies of the working people, is evident, not only from their own actions, speeches, and behavior, but from the books which literay men, on both sides of the Atlantic, now put to press. Formerly books or novels, poems and philosophical works, were written and published solely for the high, the wealthy and the noble portion of the world: and working people, when any of them were introduced into tales and romances, were considered fit only to act a mere animal or subordinate part—No one, at that time, thought of writing popular works representing working people as heroes and heroines, having all the virtues, with energies and refinemement of heart, placing them on an equality with the noblest of God's creation. But now, it is one of the characteristics of the present age, that multitudes of books are not only written for the working people, but this class of people are distinguished in them, as the principal actors in great and noble achievements.

These works, to be sure are fictions; but they are indications of existing public sentiment in the nations where the publications are made: for authors would not write them, nor would publishers and booksellers engage in the circulation of them, if there were not a very large body of people, who approve the sentiments.

But this novel reading age is now being succeeded by one of a higher and more philosophical character. The working people read and study pamphlets and books, in which the elements of philosophy, and of the most valuable statistical information, are communicated; and the great mass of the people are taught by forceful argument, and by the lessons of history, ancient and modern, that if they expect to become elevated in the condition of life, they must put their own minds, hearts, and hands to the magnanimous work of popular reform; they must work out their own advancement, by the use of means, just as they gain a political contest, or build a boat, or raise and gather a crop in farming, by conforming themselves to all the laws of nature, implanted in us by the Deity, to be used for our benefit and not destruction. By a conformity to all the laws of temperance, good order and fidelity, there is no working man in our country, who may not prosper and take his stand among the most respected of our citizens: for, from such a beginning, probably, the most eminent families of our country have arisen. We have no distinctions here, separating men into impassable classes, but honor and preferment are alike open to all.

On the subject of Christian union, we cannot refrain, also, from noticing the earnest attempts which churches in this country, and we believe throughout Christendom, are making to merge unessential differences in doctrine or government, which at present separate them, and to come together in one Christian communion and fellowship. We anticipate great benefit from this movement- We look upon it as among the great signs of the times, foretelling the approach of a happy and brilliant period in the advance of man.

In conclusion, we remark that all through our land, and over the whole world, in whatever direction we turn, we see the signs of a great preparation for some mighty work. Of what character it may be, we pretend not to say with certainty; but we think the indications foretell an era of peace and earthly prosperity, and freedom never before surpassed. We do not mean that the change is actually near at hand; but it is advancing, and with no slow steps, and the children of those alive may be destined to see and enjoy it.

Judge Woodward.

A private correspondent of the United States Gazette writes from Washington, predicting the rejection of the nomination of Judge Woodward. Upon what ground of objection to the nominee his rejection is expected, the writer does not state. The New York Evening Gazette says "the impression seems to be gaining ground, that he will not be confirmed, because he is—an American." That is to say, because Judge Woodward is known to have expressed ultra Native American opinions.

We do most devoutly desire the rejection of Judge Woodward, but it is not because of his political opinions. The principle applied by the President to the selection of a Judge, in this case, should be at once branded and disgraced. It is bad enough to have the claims of opposing candidates for popular office, with limited tenure, determined by the selection of a neutral party, to harmonize opposition, and soothe the distracted democracy. It is bad enough, to have such a principle applied to a collector of customs, or a deputy postmaster; but it is disgraceful to the nation, and dangerous, not to be tolerated, when such a miserable and corrupt rule is applied to the selection of a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—an office of life tenure, to which the people are to look for justice in the last resort. It is notorious that Judge Woodward was selected as a compromise offered to embittered factions, and he is as notoriously wholly unfitted to the arduous and responsible duties of the station. We repeat our ardent and earnest hope that this nomination may be rejected.

Genevieve.

We commence to-day the publication of a tale from the French, translated expressly for the Commercial Journal. The publication will run through some half dozen, or perhaps more, numbers of our daily, but the unusual excellence of the tale warrants so much pains-taking.

We have on hands another translation from the French, Dayelle, equal in merit, but differing in character from Genevieve, which we shall publish so soon as we can finish the latter.

Meeting at Temperance Hall.

We are informed that last evening, at the Temperance Hall, Pittsburgh, when Mr. Foster was speaking on the subject of the churches, Mr. Joseph Barker interrupted him, and put some questions to him in reference to the Methodists. Some altercation took place, and much disorder was created.—The house was densely crowded, almost to suffocation, and many persons, also, were at the outside at the windows and door. Either intentionally or by accident, two or three of the windows were broken, and the meeting dispersed in disorder.—But we do not understand that any attempt was made to commit personal injury. We deeply regret this instance of tumult. It has been ascertained by long experience, that unpopular doctrines cannot be answered or suppressed by violence.

Yet it is not impossible that no unruly interruption was designed, and that the occurrences which happened were the results of an accidental breaking of the windows, or an apprehension of sudden danger, which would naturally seize a large and over-crowded meeting of men and women, at such a time. But whatever the cause was, we deeply regret the affair. Our cities are becoming distinguished for their good order and correctness, and a disturbance of this kind ought never to occur. While we deprecate this interference, we are glad to record it, as the impression of a well-informed spectator—a thorough-going Abolitionist, by the way—who does not hold with Mr. Foster, in the opinions which give offence, that this disturbance was merely the consequence of Mr. Barker's attempt to answer Mr. Foster. There was, he avers, no mob, no general disposition towards disorder.

A Hard Question.

The communication of "A Tax Payer," is from the pen of an old and highly respectable citizen. We know nothing whatever of the subject of his complaint, but he is entitled to a hearing.

Low Postage.

The New York Evening Gazette announces, that the Assembly of that State, by a nearly unanimous vote, have passed resolutions protesting strongly against any increase of the rates of Postage, and requesting the Representatives of New York in Congress to oppose any such alteration of the law. This movement of the great State of New York, must exert a powerful influence in favor of low postage.

Dickinson College, Carlisle.

We have received a catalogue of the number of students in this institution in 1845. We find that the number of students is 147, divided as follows: Law class 6; Seniors, 18; Juniors, 23; Sophomores, 23; Freshmen, 32; Grammar school, 40. This institution is under the care of the Methodist Church, North.

Police.

On Monday morning there were two cases before his Honor, charged with drunkenness and vagrancy; they were evenly divided, a gentleman and a lady. Strange to say, the gent. paid his fine and was discharged, the lady, sorry for it, had no means to pay her fine and was sent to the hill to rusticate for the next five days?

Destructive Fire at Rome, N. Y.

A disastrous fire broke out at Rome, on Tuesday morning, in a shoe shop, in a two story wooden building, on the Northern side of Dominick st., and before it was subdued burned every building from the hotel, on the corner of James and Dominick, to the bank of Rome, where the fire was arrested.

The loss will probably exceed $30,000, of which perhaps 18 or $20,000 may be covered by insurance. One man, George Fox, was killed by the falling of a chimney.

The School Master Abroad.

The following note was picked up in Raleigh, N. C.—

"Mr ——— Sr ples sen me to gallon wiscah by the neger boy dave, and let it be gud, an yu wil blege you frind."

☞ The alarm of fire on Monday morning was caused by a chimney on Market street taking fire. Our firemen were soon on the ground, but there was no need for their services.

☞ We noticed a hard customer being toted off to the watch house on Monday. He said "it makes no difference, Dr. Kerr did not need his vote, he would receive 17000 votes and that would elect him."

☞ We notice the workmen engaged in repairing Mr. Morrison's house on Third street, damaged by fire some days since.

☞ A member of the Allegheny Fire Company would like to know if the blacksmith on Fifth street, has the exclusive privilege of occupying the street from Wood to Smithfield, as it takes a much longer time than is convenient to get out the apparatus at the time of a fire, in consequence of the street being lumbered up with carts and drays.

☞ The ice in the Monongahela has not broken up yet, although we see it stated so in the Cincinnati Enquirer. That is the only paper from that city that has the news

☞ Persons who have houses or stores to let, should remember to have them advertised in the Journal, if they wish to procure good tenants.

☞ According to the statement of Lord Stewart, Queen Victoria's liquor bill is ten thousand dollars per annum. No wonder crime, disease and starvation stalk abroad, at mid-day, in that Queendom.

LATE VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL ON VIRGIL KNAPP.—There is a great deal of discontent in the public mind on this subject! Sarah Decker was seduced, and then secretly put out of existence, to hide her shame. Yet the law cannot vindicate her cause, or avenge her fate? How is this? Is there not something wrong in all this?

☞ The Acrobats are in Cincinnati.

The Navy.

If it be true, says the New York Times, and we believe it is—that the Secretary of the Navy has recommended the building of some dozen and a half of steamers, the existing excitement respecting Oregon will not be without its use, whatever the final result may be; for we believe there is not an American who does not desire the enlargement of our Navy, or who does not look to it with pride and satisfaction, small as it is. These vessels should all be built of iron, if possible. Our country is literally filled with this material, and we have all the required facilities and ability for building them. Pittsburgh alone could supply us with one half of them. The Princeton and Mississippi are the size of a part of the proposed vessels, we understand, and some will be small for Lakes and Rivers.

The Allegheny Robbery.

We regret to see unfair means resorted to by our opponents, to damage the cause of our excellent candidate for re-election, Mr. Howard. The "Allegheny Robbery Story" is unfair and unworthy of our opponents, but it cannot, we persuade ourselves, do harm. Mr. Stewart's clear statement, nullifies the device, and Mr. Hague's communication to the American of yesterday, leaves no loop to hand a doubt upon. We regret that we did not see Mr Hague's statement in season, to get it into this morning's paper.

To Day.

We shall not use many words to urge the Whigs to go to the polls this day. We are quite sure that the punishment visited upon their apathy last Tuesday, in the defeat of their candidates, will ensure their general attendance to-day.

The Democrats will vote for Dr. Kerr, to a man. Why is it to be apprehended, that Whigs and Antimasons will not, with equal fidelity to party and to principle, vote for Mr. Howard, to a man?

We feel no apprehension on this point. But let no Whig omit to cast his vote.

A Curious Decision.

It has been decided by the general Court of Virginia, that the mere inability of a jury to agree was not such a necessity as warranted their discharge: And in the case before them, in which a jury on a criminal trial had been so discharged, the prisoner was ordered to be set at liberty.

Not so Lucky.

It is said in the New Orleans papers that no reward was offered by Gov. Wright for the apprehension of George Potter, therefore the person causing his arrest has no other reward than that which the act affords.

A Foundling.

A fine baby was recently found packed up in a basket upon the stoop of a gentleman's house in New York. Upon examining the child a letter was found in its bosom, on which was written "Take care of this precious babe, and have her christened Annah Maria Murtagh, by a Catholic priest—in the name of the Blessed Virgin, and his Blessed son, Jesus.

☞ Taglioni has arrived in Paris, on her way to Italy, after a farewell tour through various parts of England, Ireland and Scotland, by which she is said to have netted not less than £10,000—her lowest engagement, even at the smallest theatre, being 100 guineas per night.

☞ We learn from the Charleston Mercury that Stanley, Eclipse and Victor passed through that city on the 21st ult. on their way to Col. Hampton's stables. They were under the charge of Joe Laird the jockey of Fashion.

☞ Kissing must be rather a sweet recreation in Maine, as we see that the girls there, on going to parties, powder their faces with white sugar.

☞ An iron safe was stolen from a store in Athens, Ga., the other day. The thieves, unable to get it open, lugged it off for some distance, when they got tired of the job, left it unharmed.

☞ Cassius M. Clay, Esq., of Lexington, Kentucky, will be found among yesterday's arrivals at the Astor House.—N. Y. Her.

Persecution of Missionaries in Greece.

We were all mad for the liberty of the Greeks—our citizens sent them vessels laden with provisions—raised money for the Greeks, cheered them on in every direction. It was a glorious revolution. We thought of Epaminondas; and of all the splendid warriors, patriots and scholars of Greece; of their actors, of their Forum, of their poets, and we all began to brush up our Greek and read Xenophon and Homar in their vernacular. Well, Greece is free, has thrown of the Turkish yoke and has since which, sunk rapidly into utter insignificance, with a native German for their King and nothing Greek about Greece. In addition to the nothingness of the government, its utter imbecility and want of character, we have now something in the shape of religious persecution and of an American Missionary, which should occupy some attention in this country. The Rev. Jonas King has been for many years a missionary and resident of Athens; he is a native of Massachusetts, and was appointed Professor of oriental language in Amherst He was appointed by the board of Missions to the station which he occupies, and has at length fallen under the displeasure of the Greek Hierarchy. He was arraigned and charged with "uttering impious language respecting the mother of God." Mr. King took occasion to defend himself by quotations from the early Greek fathers, particularly Epiphanius, who says, "Let the Father and the Son and Holy Ghost be worshipped, but not the mother." The Reverend gentleman in order to explain his position and opinions in a satisfactory manner, published a book in which he quoted largely from early Greek writers in his defence. The Ecclesiastics, as in the days of the Inquisition, issued a circular, excommunicating Mr King, and ordering his book to be burnt. The Court issued a circular, in which they speak of Mr King's work in the following manner:

"The little book of the false apostle is entitled "Defence;" but it is not a defence. It is an exposition of his wicked doctrines, a wicked work against the Lady, the Mother of God, and ever Virgin Mary, in the first place; and against the saints, against the holy images, and the worship paid to them; against the transformation of the bread and wine into the body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, in the fearful mystery of the communion."

The Government has ordered him to be prosecuted, and he has been arraigned formally before the judicial tribunals. His examination and answers were as follows, from his own notes:

Question. What is your name?
Answer. Jonas King.
Q. Your country?
A. The United States of America.
Q. Of what city?
A. Hawly, a country town.
Q. What is your age?
A. Fifty-three.
Q. What is your profession?
A. I am an Evangalist, that is, a preacher of the Word of God.
Q. What is your religion?
A. What God teaches in his Word: I am Christian most orthodox.
Q. Did you publish this book, entitled "Jonas King's Defence," &c.?
A. I did, and distributed it both here, in Turkey and elsewhere. I gave it to all the professors in the Univerfity, and to others.

The Judge then read to me my accusation as follows:—"You are accused of having in your book reviled the Mother of God, the holy images, the liturgy of Chrysostom and Basil, the œcumencal councils, and the doctrine of the transformation of the bread and wine into the body aad blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, in the fearful mystery of the communion. Have you any defence to make?"

A. Those things in my book with regard to Mary, with regard to transubstantiation and with regard to images, I did not say; but the most brilliant luminaries of the eastern church St. Epiphanius, St. Chrysostom, the great St Basil, St. Ireneus, Clements and Eusebius Pamphyli, say them;
Q. Have you any thing to add?
A. Nothing.
Q. Do you know how to write?
A. Enough to write my name

I was then ordered to subscribe my name to the examination, which I did and went away.

Our reverend fellow citizen, Jonas appears from this to be in as much trouble as the Prophet Jonas was when in the whale's belly, and we sincerely wish him a safe deliverance. He has got into the hands of the Philistines and may be burnt at the stake like John Rodgers and a host of other martyrs. And this is the liberty of Greece which we have been praying for, fighting for, and paying for. Why it is a mere farce of toleration and freedom of opinion on religious matters. There is great excitement in Athens, and Mr. King's book is much read.

Twenty-ninth Congress.
FIRST SESSION.

From the Washington Union of Saturday night.
WASHINGTON, Jan'y 8.

U. S. SENATE.

The Senate was not in sesson to-day.

In the House, nearly one half of the session was consumed in the discussion of a personal matter, of which an account will be found under the proper head. The committees were then called for reports, and a few only were made. After this, the discussion on the Oregon question was resumed in Committee of the Whole. The debate was continued by Mr. Hunter, who opposed the giving the notice, and by Mr. Kennedy, who was in favor of it. The interest both on the floor and in the galleries is kept up still to the highest point, and the number of claimants for the chairman's ear seems to be in no degree diminished.

To James T. Kincaid, George Ogden, Morgan Robertson, and other members of the Water committee.

GENTLEMEN—How can you justify yourselves in awarding the contract for making water pipes, to the persons bidding, $2 44 the 100 lbs. and to one of your committee, when you had before you a bid at $2 35 the 100 lbs., from an equally good and responsible bidder, making a difference to the city, of over five hundred dollars, in the proposed contract? Is this the economical way in which you have managed all the business of the city, intrusted to your care. If so, it is no wonder the city is poor in money? The decision of the Committee, should in justice and of right be reconsidered, or, the Committee should be held responsible for the gross misapplication of the funds of the city. What is the use of advertising for proposals and inviting bidders, unless you intend to award the contract to the lowest and best bidder. It is the uniform custom, when bidders are invited for the delivery of any article, to award it to the lowest and best bidder; which should have been the case in this instance, provided the interests of the city had been attended to, instead of those of the individual bidder.
TAX PAYER.

For the Commercial Journal.

FELLOW WHIGS:—At the election last Tuesday, Dr. Kerr was seen to vote the Locofoco ticket entire. This was natural enough, perhaps; but when he was a candidate for an important office to which, if elected at all, he must expect to be elevated by the assistance of Whig votes, would it not have been expected that he would, at least, have voted for one of your constables or school directors, if nothing more? Is this inveterate enemy of your cherished principles, fellow Whigs, the man for whom you are, this day, about to cast your votes? Think of it and let the returns answer.
WHIG.

Dr. Howe.

The peculiar and eminent services of this gentleman in the cause of the Blind, have become widely known in Europe. The reports on Laura Bridgman have been collected and republished in more than one edition in England. They have been translated into German. The lirraison of the French Institute, for June, 1845, (vol. 7th p. 436) contains a memoire on Laura Bridgman, by M. Dufau, in which the writer pays a tribute to the intelligent Dr. Howe, and adds that it is impossible to follow without emotion, the singular education of this child, and the prompt and surprising results to which it has conducted.

The following letter, which we are permitted to publish, from the Prussian Minister at Washington, shows the estimation of Dr. Howe's labors by the King of Prussia. The medal, accompanying the letter, is of gold, of large and beautiful workmanship. On one side of it is Apollo in his chariot, with four horses, with the zodiac at their feet.—On the reverse is the head of the present King, with the legend Freidr. William IV. Koenig von Preussen. It is not a little singular that this tribute should come from the country in which Dr. Howe was imprisoned in 1830, for his interest in behalf of the Poles.—Advertiser.

"PRUSSIAN LEGATION AT WASHINGTON, }
the 26th December, 1845. }

"DOCTOR HOWE, Boston:

"SIR,—By the order of His Majesty the King of Prussia, I have been instructed to transmit to you the enclosed medal for scientific merit, as a testimony of His Majesty's appreciation of your service in the cause of the Institutions of the Blind, and of your method of instructing the deaf and dumb, who are also blind.

MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.—The telegraph was in operation yesterday, and a large number of our people were present gratifying their curiosity. Last evening, when we were in the office of the company in the exchange, some ladies corresponded with a friend in Norristown and received information as to health, intended occupation of the evening, and when that friend might be expected in the city, which appeared to give them great satisfaction. To a question as to the state of the weather, the operator at the other end of the line replied, that it was cold and rainy. To another, as to the river Schuylkill, he replied that it was there yet. This excited considerable merriment, and upon the question being put in a more definite form, he returned for answer that the river was high and full of floating ice. Notice of a communication from Norristown was given to Mr. Vail, the operator at this end, and on looking at the paper these words were transmitted "15 minutes of 8 o'clock." The following conversation then took place between the two termini:

"Is there any snow in your vicinity?"
"Don't know; not knowing can't say."
"What news for the Ledger?"
"Nothing special. There is to be a marriage in town to-night"
"Who are to be married to-night?"
Wait.

After a short delay the following communication was sent:

[For the Ledger.]

MARRIED, by the Rev. Mr. Stein, Mr. John Shaner to Miss Elizabeth Fie, all of Norristown.—Sent by Mr. Samuel Markley.

In order not to make this interesting announcement in advance of the fact, we asked if the marriage ceremony had been performed, and received for answer that it had just been concluded. We therefore congratulate the happy couple upon their union, and will surprise them by a public announcement of the fact, at a time when they can scarcely believe it possible.

The operation of the telegraph will cease at an early hour this morning, for the purpose of removing the Norristown apparatus to Doylestown, the next station. When it is arranged at that place, it will again be tested for a few days.

In order that all who wish to avail themselves of the advantages of this wonderful invention, Mr. Vail has prepared a full history of the Telegraph and its mode of operation with the telegraphic alphabet, and its interpretation and the mode by which it may be used safely for secret correspondence. This is an interesting work and is published by Lea & Blanchard.

☞ A curious instance of the influence and association of ideas, imagination and memory, is related in the case of the celebrated Descartes. He passionately loved a girl who squinted, and was always affected with strabismus when speaking of her.

The poor tailor, in the following sketch from the N O. Cresent, fared no better on one horn of the dilemma than the other:—

"Wil. you pay me this bill, sir?" said a tailor in St. Charles street, to a waggish fellow who had got into him about a feet.

"Do you owe anybody anything, sir?" asked the wag.

"No, sir," said the tailor.

"Then you can afford to wait!" and off he walked.

A day or two afterwards the tailor called again.—Our wag was not at his wit's end yet; so turning to his creditor, he says:

"Are you in debt to anybody?"

"Yes, sir," said the tailor.

"Well, why don't you pay?"

"I've not the money."

"That's just my case, sir, I'm glad to see you can appreciate my condition; give us your hand!"

"Christian Union."

MR. RIDDLE:—Will you permit me through the columns of your valuable paper, to call public attention to the fact that a number of persons of the two Cities, Pittsburgh and Allegheny, have organized themselves for holding Meetings every first day of the week, for the purpose of promoting Christian Union? They held their first meeting last Sunday at 11 o'clock, A. M. in the Room of the Allegheny fire company, Pittsburgh, in 5th street, between Wood and Smithfield,—a room that probably will hold about 200 persons. Messrs. Ormston and Van Amringe, on that day, addressed the meeting. The Union will meet at the same place next Sunday morning at the same hour.—But it is desirable to have their meetings at an earlier hour in the morning; as eleven o'clock is thought to be rather too late for beginning.

There are two kinds of infidels; first infidels against the word of God, and secondly, infidels against the work of God. The Work of God, is the salvation of the lost, the reprobate, the vicious, the sinful, the besotted, the ignorant,—in short all wretched persons and sinners. This is the great work of God, in Christ, upon the earth; and those who co-work with him in this great salvation, are laborers in the vineyard of God. At the present day, there are vast multitudes who profess a faith in the word of God; but almost all those who profess a faith in the word, are professed infidels against the work of God; and they call it a visionary and lunatic business, and they mock persons employed in it, and endeavor to impede the work in many ways. While many gain, who profess a faith in the work of God, are infidels against his word; for they are led astray as to the meaning of that word, by the false glosses and practises of those who make a profession of it.

Actually, there are persons, who profess faith in the divine word, who maintain the doctrine that the Word of the Supreme Parent, teaches his children to enslave, kill, and devour each other; to cheat, to oppress and to be hard of heart; and all manner of vile things fit only to be taught in the word of Satan! Hence it is, that many persons, who labor in the work of God, by manifesting practically, their love for their fellow-men, and endeavoring to elevate all to a Christian Brotherhood, do not know that they are fulfilling the word of the Deity, and they frankly admit themselves to be infidels against the word, not admitting that it is the word of God.

The object of the persons, who got up the Christian Union, is to bring all people together, whether they are infidels against the word, or infidels against the work of God, that each one may freely speak out what he really thinks upon all questions connected with the good of the entire family of man, in order that some practical system may be ascertained and adopted for uniting all mankind in the bonds of love, peace, and brotherhood, upon the Christian precept of love your neighbor as yourself. This union was suggested by the example of the "Christian Union" in New York, got up by Mr. Channing, Mr. Greeley and other friends of the human family. And from the attendance which took place last Sunday, we have strong hopes that the audiences will be very large, and the exercises conducted in such a manner as to impart pleasure and mental and moral improvement to all who participate in this great effort for redeeming mankind.

I write you this, that our fellow citizens, men and women, fathers, sons, husbands, wives, and daughters may know what is going on, and that such of them as cannot attend with us, should organize similar Unions, in their neighborhoods; and thus the blessed sound of the Christian Gospel may be heard from many Meetings ascending to the throne of the Father, proclaiming glory to God on high, and on earth peace, good-will to man.

My opinion is that these Unions, will in the progress of time, pervade the whole West; and what a glorious region would our Country be then,—the first day really a day consecrated to the holy purpose of obtaining universal and eternal rest in the Lord.

Your publication of this would much oblige,
Your friend, JAMES.

BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA—From H. Greely, Esq., Editor of the N. Y. Tribune.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3d, 1842.

The virtues of Sarsaparilla, as a restorer of purity to the blood, and consequently a cure for maladies resulting from its impurity, have been sufficiently set forth by numberless preparers and certificates. We will add a case within our own knowledge. A friend had a young child dangerously diseased with tumors as well within as upon its head, which had long defied medical skill. He stated the fears to us, and we, pretending to no knowledge of medicine, urged him to try a bottle of Bristol's Extract of Sarsaparilla, as we knew Mr B. and had faith in his statements. He followed our advice, and cured the child immediately. This was two years ago; and we saw the little fellow yesterday in fine health. So much we know and can certify; and we believe the child is living now by virtue of that Sarsaparilla.

LIFE AND HEALTH.—This gift is the greatest blessing bestowed on man. But while we are inhabitants of this sinful and troublesome world, we are compelled to meet sickness and pain, and even death. All-wise Providence has given us in the vegetable kingdom certain remedies which, when extracted with science, will arrest disease in its infancy, and prolong life for a season. The fact that so many persons are daily dying of that dreadful disease, Consumption, should at once awaken those who are but slightly affected, to a sense of duty they owe to themselves, and procure a few bottles of Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy, and use it immediately according to the directions, whereby your life may be spared and many years spent in Life, Health and Happiness. Call early at Dr. Duncan's Western Office, 150 Sycamore street, 3 doors below Fifth, where his medicine and advice may be found.

A Stubborn Fact in Mesmerism!
Statement of Mrs. Spence.

☞ I had been suffering for about five weeks from what is termed the "Milk Leg," and during that time experienced much pain, and was considered in a very low and critical situation. It had been lanced twice by the attending physician, causing me great pain, and affording me no improvement or relief. Before it was to be lanced for the third time, and with the hope of mitigating the agony of that operation, I was induced by a friend to submit myself to be magnetized previous to the application of the lancet. For this purpose, Mr. P. A. Westervelt visited me, and mesmerized me. After the first essay, I was so much relieved as to be able to enjoy a good sleep, which I had not previously done for a long time. By the repetition of the manipulations, I became so much relieved from pain, that I concluded not to undergo a third surgical operation, and persisted in the mesmeric treatment until the disease dissipated itself by a copious discharge, through the previously lanced places, resulting in a perfect cure. It is proper to say that after the first application of mesmerism, I discontinued the use of medicine altogether, and trusted alone to the manipulations. At the time the mesmeric treatment was commenced, I was unable to stand or even to change my position in bed, without much suffering. In three weeks after the commencement of this treatment, I was able to walk about the streets without difficulty.

☞ The public are here presented with a regularly authenticated testimonial of the cure of a disease, which has in numerous instances, baffled the skill of the medical faculty, and entailed helplessness and suffering on its unhappy subjects; a cure too, be it remembered, whose prominent feature is, by its action in after events, to subdue pain—never to produce it. I am in possession of certificates from individuals who have been restored to health under my hands, from indisposition of many years standing. Those testimonials will be made public in due time, and in the mean while may be seen at my residence. Among the disorders cured, may be mentioned—Epilepsy, Flow of the Blood to the Head, Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Nervous Tremblings, &c.

Valuable Real Estate for Sale.

THIRTY ACRES OF GROUND, having an extensive front on the South bank of the Monongahela, (our principal business river where all the steamers lie, and where the heavy business of the City is done,) being the West end of the Borough of Birmingham, laid out into 230 lots of 20 by 100 feet, for Residences, and 96 by 390 feet for Manufactories fronting on 50 feet streets, and extending back to 20 feet alleys.

TEN ACRES similarly situated and laid out, adjoining the East end of Birmingham.

THIRTY ACRES OF COAL HILL LOTS, running from near the Bridge toward Birmingham, fronting on the two Turnpikes.

These are well known as the most advantageous locations about Pittsburgh, or in the world, for Manufacturing, inexhaustible mines of Coal of the richest and best quality, at hand, and furnished much cheaper than any other place about the City, and being nearly opposite the City Steamboat landing.

For Residences, also, there are no more beautiful, healthy, and convenient locations for those engaged in business in the City; but a few minutes ride or walk from the beautiful new Wire Suspension Bridge; some of the sites commanding fine views of the two Cities, three rivers and surrounding country.

We would prefer to selling, that Capitalists would join us in the erection of manufactories and other improvements. There is a stratum of Coal beneath the ground of 12 to 15 feet in thickness. A large body of the ground also is above the common level, and valuable for making Brick. It being a portion of an undivided estate for the past forty years, has thus been kept out of the market. Could the yearly applications to purchase have been accepted, it would long since have all been sold and compactly built up. It will be sold at less than other property as near the City in other directions, (and we particularly invite those interested to compare the prices,) notwithstanding its superior advantages, and must rapidly increase in value beyond other property, as every one can see from its great resources and advantageous location, presenting an object of the most certain and lucrative investment; for manufacturing the most advantageous, and for residences the most desirable, all of which is more fully set forth and confirmed, as well as other general information in regard to it and our city, in a pamphlet issued by us, and to be had of Booksellers in this and Eastern cities.

If not disposed of previously, it will be sold either in whole or in part of either one of the plots on Monday, the 25th day of May next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Terms moderate.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY AND TRUST COMPANY of Philadelphia. Chartered in 1836—Charter Perpetual;—Capital, $300,000—BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS, President:—Continues to make insurance on lives, grant annuities and endowments, and accept trusts from individuals, corporate bodies, and courts of justice, and execute them agreeably to the desire of the parties, and receive deposites of money in trust or on interest.

The Company add a bonus at stated periods to the insurance for life, and on the 20th of January last, an addition was made to all policies for life, remaining in force and issued prior to January 1st, 1842, amounting to 10 per cent. on the sum insured in policies issued in 1837, 7½ per cent. on policies issued in 1838, and in rateable proportions according to their respective dates.

The chief object of an insurance for life is to provide a sum of money at the death of the party insured, for the benefit of a widow, children, friends or creditors; and it will be seen on an examination of the table of rates of the life insurance, which will be furnished by the subscriber to all who may feel an interest in the subject, that by paying a small sum to the office every year during his life, a person may secure to his family a very considerable amount at his decease.

Wherever the system of Life Insurance is properly understood, it is extensively adopted, and its great advantages to all, but more especially to those who depend on their own exertions for the support of their families, or who may be desirous to secure the payment of a sum of money to their friends, creditors or children, at their decease, which they might be otherwise unable to accomplish, that the operation of the system needs but to be explained to ensure the serious consideration of the public.

In several instances it has happened that the party insured has died shortly after, having paid only one or two instalments of the premium, when his family have received from this office the full amount for which he had insured.

Full information on this important subject may be obtained by applying, personally, or by letter (post-paid) at the office of the subscriber, the authorised agent of the Girard Life Insurance Company.

Fifth Ward Livery Stable.

THE subscriber having bought out the well known Livery Stable kept by C. B. Doty, in the Fifth Ward, respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he will keep at all times, a stock of the best description of Riding Horses, Buggies, Carriages of all kinds, and, in short, every thing required in his line of business.

A considerable portion of his stock is new, and he is confident that no stock in the city will be superior to his.

TERMS WILL BE MODERATE.

His stable is on Liberty street, a few doors above the canal bridge, where he respectfully solicits a share of public patronage. CHARLES COLEMAN.

He is also provided with an elegant Hearse, which will be furnished when required. oct22-tf

Pittsburgh Gymnasium.
Third st., between Wood and Market, below the Post Office.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to his former patrons and the public generally, that he has completed his establishment for gymnastic exercises, and will open his books for the reception of subscribers on Monday next. He has prepared his apparatus for various exercises, on the most approved plan, and after consultation with several of the most distinguished physicians in the city, so that he is confident that no establishment in the country is better prepared for those exercises of the muscles which are calculated to strengthen the limbs, expand the chest, promote the free circulation of the blood, and to improve the health generally. Establishments of this kind are recommended by the best physicians of Philadelphia, as well as of this city, especially to persons of sedentary habits. Those who wish to subscribe, are recommended to commence with the beginning of the year.

Rubefacient.

PITTSBURGH, December 5th, 1844.—Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co.—Gentlemen: I had the misfortune, day before yesterday to have my left thumb caught in a windlass, by which it was severely mashed and bruised. The pain was intense, and the thumb was swelled almost to bursting. I could sleep none the night following, from the agony I suffered. Yesterday I called at your store to see if I could procure any thing that would afford relief. Your young man recommended the Rubefacient, and gave me a bottle; I applied some immediately, and in about an hour afterwards, I obtained complete relief.—The swelling subsided, and the pain ceased entirely, and the thumb is now nearly restored. My sleep last night was sound and undisturbed. I still continue the use of it, and shall continue till the thumb recovers its former strength. I strongly recommend the Rubefacient as a valuable remedy for bruises. MICHAEL TWAREY, Fifth street.

RIVER MATTERS.

REPORTED FOR THE COMMERCIAL JOURNAL.
JANUARY 12, 1845

ARRIVED.
Laura, Gordon Beaver.
Hibernia, Klinefelter, Cincinnati.
DEPARTED.
Cleveland, Calhoun, Wellsville.
Laura, Gordon, Beaver.

Those marked thus (*) are provided with Evans' Safety Guard for the prevention of explosion of boilers.
☞ See advertisement in another column.

☞ Last evening at dark, there were 6 feet 6 inches water in the channel, and falling slowly.—The weather is very cold.

☞ We learn from a person that arrived from Beaver, last evening, that the steamer Michigan had succeeded in saving nearly the whole of the Molasses barrels on board the Massachusetts, sunk opposite Beaver. The hull was towed into shore so that the glass will all be saved in a damaged state. The barrels will be reshipped on board the Wisconsin.

The Hibernia arrived since our last, from Cincinnati. This is the first arrival from that port, since the opening of navigation.

☞ The fine steamer North Queen, Capt. McLain, leaves to day for Cincinnati and Louisville.

☞ A new steamer called Billow, hauled up to our landing, to take in a load for below. She is intended, so we were informed, to run from Kanawha to Cincinnati.

☞ The Democratic State Convention of Ohio assembled at Columbus, has nominated David Tod for Governor.

The Nashville Orthopolitan of Jan'y 6th, says the river at this hour is still on the rise, and we report 5 feet on Harpeth Shoals. The Rose of Sharon goes to Carthage, and the Alps to Burksville. The Linwood is hourly expectad. The Talleyrand is looked for to-morrow

☞ The Louisville Ledger of the 9th says: The steamer Diligence, which was sunk below the locks of the Canal, has been raised—her hull repaired, and was brought up to the city on Wednesday evening. Her cabin furniture, it will be remembered, was brought up to the city before she was raised.

THE HIBERNIA.—The compliment to the skill, energy, and perseverance of Capt. Klinefelter, which we publish to-day, testifies to the existence of qualities in that gentleman which we know him to possess, in an eminent degree. This is a flattering and impressive testimonial of his desert.

☞ The Louisville correspondent of Messrs. Rogers & Sherlock, under the date of the 8th, writes thus:

I knew I would be able to-day to give you some late news, and sure enough up comes the Cincinnati, and makes the following report:

Left New Orleans Wednesday evening, Dec. 31. In port, Uncle Sam, Louis Phillippe, Gen. Pike, and Pike No. 8.

31st—Met Bunker Hill at Plaquemine.
Jan. 1—Mountaineer below Natchez.
" 2—Alice Gray at Palmyra.
" 4—John Hancock at Helena.
" 5—Old Hickory at Island No. 21.
" 6—Passed Diamond at Cash Island.
Met Bertrand at Fort Cumberland.
" Jamestown at Smithland.
Duke of Orleans and some other boat at Battery Rock.
" 7—Passed Andrew Jackson at Green River, Queen of the West laid up at Scuffletown.

WHEELING, VA., JANUARY 10, 1846.

John Klinefelter, Captain of Steamer Hibernia.

DEAR SIR.—We, the undersigned Cabin passengers, take great pleasure in acknowledging our gratified feelings, for your noble perseverance and skill in your trip from Cincinnati to this place.—We are satisfied there are but few Captains of boats, who would have successfully accomplished the trip, or even ventured to run their boats for sixty hours through a continued field of thick floating ice.

We therefore take very great pleasure, in recommending you and your fine boat, your gentlemanly officers, and attentive stewards to the traveling community.

Mormon Affairs.

We understand that the Holy Twelve, on being informed of their indictment, wrote to their counsel here, that they were ready to send one of their number to be tried, and that they would abide the result of his trial. Whether they designed that this treaty should be reduced to writing and signed officially by the Mormon dignitaries, and the officers of the United States, we have not learned, nor that the impudent suggestion was offered in court.

Turley, one of the Mormon gang, indicting for counterfeiting, was here several days for trial, but had his bail reduced to appear at the next term, and went off the day before the witnesses arrived. On their arrival, Turley was again sent for—the company with which he left was found, but Turley was missing.

Edward Conney, one of these indicted for counterfeiting at the last term of the U. S. Circuit Court—visited this city last week, without knowing of his indictment. He was promptly taken by the U. S. Marshal.

Mormonism still "A Leetle Ahead!"

Mr. Roberts, as Deputy Marshal, was sent to Nauvoo, to make arrests, of persons charged with counterfeiting the coin of the realm. As the account goes, Mr. Roberts reached Nauvoo, and procured a person to point out to him Brigham Young. An individual was indicated as this person. The Deputy arrested him—took him to Carthage—and there, after making him doff his outer habiliments, it was found that the individual arrested was not the said Young, but a person who had been attired to resemble him. In the mean time we suppose the holy Brigham was not on hand in Nauvoo.

The treaty of the Mormons with the Governor, and the fact that they have fast friends among the party demagogues at the seat of government, will enable them to laugh at Uncle Sam's officers, unless a more determined and resolute course is pursued by the government, than has been, thus far, to render law something more than a mere mockery.—Sangamo Journal.

Explosion of Steam Boilers.

EVANS' ALLOY SAFETY GUARD, and Evans' Metallic Expansion Safety Guard.—The subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has procured a Patent for his Metallic Expansion Safety Guard, and is now prepared to manufacture the same, as well as his well known Alloy Safety Guard, upon which he has also made an improvement.

Steam Boat owners and others can now make a choice of either of the two inventions, and procure them from the original inventor, without the expense or danger of litigation which would certainly follow upon any infringement of his patents. He would respectfully invite the public to call at his office, and examine his inventions, which he will cheerfully explain by working models.

Thankful for past favors, he flatters himself that his long and unremitted exertions to the subject of preventing explosions willensure him a continuance of public patronage.
C. EVANS.

FOR SAFETY

Travelers should select a Boat provided with Evans' Safety Guards, for preventing explosions of steam boilers. It would be well for the traveling community to bear in mind their security depends entirely upon their own encouragement of boats that have or may be at the expense of procuring the above apparatus. And that every individual making such selection is contributing towards a general introduction of an invention admitted by all men who understand the principles of the Steam Engine, to be a sure preventative against those dreadful disasters. This invention has been applied to upwards of 100 steamers, and travelers are cautioned against being deceived by men representing their boats as having Safety Guards, when they are not so secured against explosions. Examine the show bills and advertisements for correct information.
mar 3-ly C. EVANS.

AGENCY OFFICE FOR PROCURING PATENTS REMOVED.

The subscriber has removed his Office and Safety Guard Factory to his residence in Penn street, near Water, where he will make draughts, write out specifications, and do all that is necessary to procure patents. He will also act at agent in introducing and disposing of new inventions.

And a variety of other diseases arising from impurities of the blood, and obstructions in the organs of digestion.

Experience has proved that nearly every disease to which the human frame is subject originates from impurities of the Blood or Derangements of the Digestive Organs; and to secure Health we must remove those obstructions or restore blood to its natural state This important fact has long been familiar to the world; but our natural aversion to medicine in any shape has hitherto determined us, in many cases, to prefer the disease to its cure. Now, however, the objection is effectually removed by CLICKENER'S PURGATIVE PILLS, which being completely enveloped with a coating of pure white sugar (as distinct from the internal ingredients as a nut shell from the kernel) have no taste of medicine, but are as easily swallowed as bits of candy. Moreover they neither nauseate or gripe in the slightest degree. This is occasioned by the fact that they are compounded on scientific principles and based on an intimate acquaintance with the origin of disease and the actual structure of the human system, which enables them to operate equally on all the diseased parts of the system. Thus, for example, if the Liver be affected. one ingredient will operate on that particular organ, and by cleansing it of that excess of bile it is constantly discharging into the stomach, restore it to its natural state. Another will operate on the blood, and remove those impurities which have already entered into its circulation; while a third will effectually expel from the system whatever impurities may have been discharged into the stomach through the instrumentality of the other ingredients. Hence, they strike at the root of Disease, remove all impure humors (the principal cause of disease) from the body; open the pores externally and internally; promote the insensible perspiration separate all foreign and obnoxious particles from the Chyle. ensure a free and healthy action to the heart, lungs and liver, and thereby restore health, even when every other means have failed.

The entire truth of the above can be ascertained by the trial of a single box; and their virtues are so positive and certain in restoring health that the proprietor binds himself to return the money paid for them in all cases where they do not give universal satisfaction.

☞ Beware of an imitation article called Improved Sugar-Coated Pills, purporting to be patented, as both the pills and pretended patent are forgeries, got up by a miserable quack in New York, who, for the last four or five years has made his living by counterfeiting popular medicines.

☞ Remember Dr. C. V. Clickener is the original inventor of Sugar Coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of until he introduced them in June, 1843 as will be seen by the following

PREMIUM.

This diploma was awarded by the American Institute at the Annual Fair, held in the city of New York, October 1843, C. V. CLICKENER, for the invention of Sugar Coated Pills. JAMES TALLMADGE, President.

To avoid impositions, purchasers must always ask for "Clickner's Sugar Coated Vegetable Pills," and take no others, or they will be made the victims of a fraud.

Light is Come.

NEW SPERM, LARD AND PINE OIL LAMP STORE.—The subscribers having opened a store, No. 8 St. Clair street, (West side) for the sale of Lamps, Oils, etc., respectfully invite the attention of the inhabitants of Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and the surrounding country generally, to their stock of Lamps, before purchasing elsewhere.—Our arrangements with the manufacturer are such that we can safely say we are prepared to light, in the most brilliant and economical manner, steamboats, Hotels, Public Halls, Churches, stores, shops, Parlors, Bridges and streets, as well as the "more dark and benighted corners," or any place where brilliancy, neatness and strict economy is desired. Among our means for letting our "light so shine," may be found the following Lamps for burning lard, lard oil and sperm oil, viz:

Hanging Lamps and Chandeliers, (2 to 4 branch) for lighting stores, Public Halls, Churches, Hotels and steamboats.

Stand and Centre Table Lamps, (various patterns and prices.)

Reading and Work Lamps.

Side and Wall Lamps, Glass and Tin Hand Lamps, &c.

The above are mostly Dyott's Patent Lamps, with double shelled fountain, and otherwise an improvement upon any other lamp now in use, which can be perceived at once by examination. Also, glass trimmings for lamps, such as globes, chimneys, wicks, &c.

LAST, THOUGH NOT LEAST!

Dyott's Patent Pine Oil Lamps, such as Hanging Lamps (glass fronts, with or without drops) Street Lamps, for lighting streets and bridges.

As we cannot describe the various patterns, we invite the public to examine them. We affirm that in brilliancy, cleanliness and economy, no light now in use will bear comparison with these Lamps, and Pine Oil. They are as safe to use as sperm or Lard Oil. Although some are endeavoring to identify this article with the old camphine and spirit gas, (by the use of which accidents have occurred) we assert to be another and different article, and that no accidents have occurred, during the extensive use of this article in Philadelphia for four years.

These Lamps will produce as much light with as much neatness and more brilliancy, and 25 per cent. less than any other light now in use, not excepting Gas.

If any one doubts statements we have or may hereafter make, we would say, we have commenced our business in Pittsburgh, intending to make it permanent, and knowing the merits of the article we offer the public, we are willing to hold ourselves accountable at all times for our statements, and are willing to put to test our Lamp—dollar and cents—testing economy—and the public deciding on the neatness and brilliancy of the light.

We have many testimonials and recommendations from Philadelphia and elsewhere, but the following may suffice for the present:

This is to certify that I have purchased of M. B. Dyott a sufficient number of his Patent Pine Oil Lamps to light the Universalist Church of Philadelphia, and have used them in said Church about two years. I have found them to give perfect satisfaction. The light produced by them is the most brilliant that I have ever seen. They are so economical that the cost of the Lamps has been saved several times over; the lighting up of the church not costing half as much as it did before we procured them.

Respectfully, JOHN DESSALET,
Secretary of the above named Church.
PHILADELPHIA, July 8, 1845.

The undesigned having used for two years Dyott's Patent Pine Oil Lamps in his Hotel, the Bolivar House, can recommend them of the most brilliant light that can be produced by any article now in use. Before I commenced lighting my house with the Pine Oil, I was using Gas; but after a trial of the above Lamps, I was so much pleased with the light and convinced of their economy, that I had the Gas removed, and burn the Pine Oil in its place.

Proprietor of Bolivar House, No. 203, Chesnut st.
PHILADELPHIA, July 8, 1845.

ALLEGHENY CITY, July 11, 1845.

This may certify that we, the undersigned, having used for some months, Dyott's Patent Pine oil Lamps, can with the fullest confidence recommend them, as producing the most brilliant and economical light we have ever seen.—They are simple in their structure, and we believe them as safe a light as can be produced from any other Lamp, and much cheaper than any other kind of oil.

Thorn's Yeast Powders.

FOR arising buckwheat, flannel and other cakes.—These Powders are an admirable substitute for yeast, in making all kinds of batter cakes and bread, that do not require much kneading, and have the advantage over that article in making the latter perfectly light and ready for baking the instant they are mixed. Buckwheat and other cakes, when made with these powders, are less likely to disagree with the stomach than those made with yeast; are entirely free from any bitter or unpleasant taste; and as it requires but a few minutes to prepare for baking, the possibility of ever having them sour is avoided. They are used by many respectable families and physicians in the city, and highly approved of. I therefore confidently recommend them to the general use of families and hotel keepers, as being greatly superior to yeast, beside economizing of time and trouble. Prepared and sold by Medical.

A Cure for Consumption.

SEVEN THOUSAND CASES of obstinate Pulmonary Complaints cured in one year. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, the great American remedy for complaints and affections of the respiratory organs.

We do not wish to traffic with the lives or health of the afflicted, and we sincerely pledge ourselves to make no assertion as to the virtues of this medicine, and to hold out no hopes to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant.

We ask the attention of the candid to the following considerations.

Nature, in every part of her works, has left indelible marks of adaptation and design.

The constitution of animals and vegetables of the torrid, is such as they could not endure the cold of the frigid zone, and vice versa.

In regard to disease and its cure, the adaptation is more or less striking.

The Moss of Iceland, the Wild Cherry and Pines of all Northern latitudes (and Dr. Wistar's Balsam is a compound and chemical extract from these,) have long been celebrated for complaints prevalent only in cold climates. Indeed, the most distinguished medical men have averred that nature furnishes in every country medicines for its peculiar diseases.

Consumption in its confirmed and incipient stages, coughs, asthma, croup, and liver complaint, form by far the most fatal class of diseases known to our land. Yet even these may be cured, by means of the simple, yet powerful remedies named above, and which are scattered by a benificent Providence, wherever those maladies prevail.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

Will Miracles never cease! More evidence of its surpassing Health Restorative Virtues!!

☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞

From Dr. Baker, Sringfield, Washington Co.
SPRINGFIELD, Ky., May 14, 1845.

Messrs. Sandford & Park—Gent.: I take this opportunity of informing you of a most remarkable cure performed upon me by the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the year 1840 I was taken with an inflammation of the bowels, which I labored under for six weeks, when I gradually recovered. In the fall of 1831 I was attacked with a severe chill, which seated itself upon my lungs; and for the space of three years I was confined to my bed. I tried all kinds of medicines, and every variety of medical aid without benefit, and thus I wearied along until the winter of 1844, until I heard of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry."

My friends persuaded me to give it a trial, though I had given up all hopes of recovery and had prepared myself for the change of another world. Through their solicitations I was induced to make use of the genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. The effect was truly astonishing. After five years of affliction, pain and suffering; and after having spent four or five hundred dollars to no purpose, and the best and most respectable physicians had proved unavailing, I was soon restored to entire health by the blessing of God and the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

I am now enjoying good health, and such is my altered appearance that I am no longer known when I meet my former acquaintances.

I have gained rapidly in weight, and my flesh is firm and solid. I can now eat as much as any person, and my food seems to agree with me. I have eaten more during the last six months than I had eaten five years before.

Considering my case almost a miracle, I deem it necessary for the good of the afflicted, and a duty I owe to the proprietors and my fellow men (who should know where relief may be had) to make this statement public.

May the blessings of God rest upon the proprietors of so valuable a medicine as Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
Yours, respectfully, WM. H. BAKER.

☞ The following letter from Dr. Ritchey, of Franklin, Ind., who stands high in his profession, and ranks among the first politicians of the State, shall speak for itself in commendation of the "Genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry."

Franklin, Ind., April 14, 1845.

Messrs. Sandford & Park—I have but a few bottles of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry remaining on hand of the last lot furnished me by you. I heretofore waited until I had sold out and had obtained the money for one lot before I ordered another. But such is the demand for the article that I do not wish to be without it, and am therefore led to anticipate a little. The money for the last lot shall be forthcoming by the time the lot is disposed of, which, from the sales I have made lately, I think will be but a short time. The effects of the Balsam are in many cases strikingly beneficial. ☞ It improves upon acquaintance more than any other Patent Medicine I have ever known. ☜ Almost all others fail upon trial, and not being able to bear the test of experience, soon sink into disuse. This, however, seems to be most highly valued by those who have tested its virtues, and experienced its healing efficacy in their own cases. Yours, very respectfully, JAMES RITCHEY.

☞ THOSE WHO COUNTERFEIT a good medicine for the purpose of adding a few dollars to their pockets, are far worse than the manufacturers of spurious coin. For while the latter only robs us of our property, the former take property and health and life away. Dr. Wistar's BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is admitted by thousands of disinterested witnesses, to have effected the most extraordinary cures in cases of an asthmatic character ever before recorded in the history of medicine.

The young, and beautiful, the good, all speak forth its praise. It is now the favorite medicine in the most intelligent families of our country.

Such a high stand in public estimation has been acideved by its own merits alone. And so long as a discerning public are careful to get Wistar's BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, and refuse with scorn counterfeits, and every other article proffered to them as a substitute, so long will cures—POSITIVE CURES—cheer the fireside of many a despairing family.

PURE FLUID MAGNESIA—The subscriber personally superintending the preparation of Pure Fluid Magnesia, which he warrants equal in strength and purity to tha of any other preparation. A table spoonful of Fluid Magnesia is equal in strength to half a tea spoonful of common Magnesia, and it is not liable to injure the coats of the stomach, or form dangerous concretions in the bowels, persons requiring an aperient and anti-acid will at once appreciate the advantages of this preparation. An ounce or two of the solution speedily removes Heartburn, Acid eructations, sourness, or irregular digestion of females and children. Cold and Influenza, attended by gastric irritability, Headache, Acidities &c., Gravel and Gouty complaints, Cutaneous diseases and dyspepsia, depending on the presence of acid matters in the Stomach, are speedily removed by the use of the solution. Infants at the breast are subject to acidities of which the Solution is the test and remedy. See large bills for further particulars.

Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup.

FOR the cure of coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, tickling sensation of the throat, whooping cough, &c., pronounced to be the pleasantest and most efficacious remedy now in use. Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup has given relief to hundreds who have used it, and the proprietor is persuaded that it has the power to impart benefit that cannot be claimed for the cough mixtures in general use.

Most of the mixtures sold are composed of spirituous and inflammatory articles, which, while they give a little relief, really do harm. The Imperial Cough Syrup contains no spirituous ingredient whatever, and may be used in all cases not requiring active medical treatment. The Imperial Cough Syrup has been used for the last six years by the most respectable inhabitants of Pittsburgh and vicinity. Give it one trial.

FIRE PROOF ROOFING.—The subscriber is now prepared to execute orders for Beacon's Patent Composition Fire Proof Roofing, at a cost considerably less than the ordinary Shingle Roofing, and warrant it for five years, a specimen of which can be seen at the corner of Front, at Mr. Varner's Hotel. This composition is far preferable to metalic roofing, as it is a non-conductor of heat—nothing in its composition that will corrode—of great durability—it will last as long as the walls of the building—and can be afforded for one half of the cost for any metalic used for the above purpose.

The article is superceding almost entirely every other method of roofing in some of the Eastern cities, and only wants to be known for its general adoption.
L. E. BACKUS.

A few testimonials of its merits are subjoined:—

NEWARK, N. J., May 16, 1845.

Some three or four years since we had the Zinc roofing taken off our building, and Mr. Bacon covered them with his Composition Roofing, which answered an excellent purpose for over two years, and until the buildings were destroyed by fire; at which time it was observed that they stood the fire extremely well, did not conduct it, and in fact did not consume as fast as the boards or planks upon which the Composition was laid.

Our buildings have been rebuilt within the last year, and they are entirely covered with the said Composition, although of great width and length, and forming together an area of rising 12,000 square feet, showing sufficiently, we think, the estimation we have of such roofing and our confidence therein. HEDENBURG & SON,
"Hedenbern's Works."

Office of the Mechanic's F. I. Co.,
NEWARK, N. J., May 17, 1845.

* * * * * * *

Since the fire in the Messrs. Hedenburg & Son's buildings, an alarming fire broke out of a large building adjacent to Mr. J. M. Quinby's factory buildings, under insurance by this Company, which were much exposed; one of them with the composition Roof, was in danger of being consumed in a few minutes, and the roof escaped injury, while many of its windows and some of its doors were destroyed.

From my observation and the opinion eypressed either by persons who have taken pains to inform themselves with respect to Mr. Simeon Bacon, Jr.'s composition, I am convinced that it is equal, if not superior to zinc for roofing.
W. A. MYER, President.

To all whom it may concern, this is so certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's composition Roofs in use for two or three years past, and am well pleased with it. I tried it in the first place on one of my workshops, and after giving it a fair trial, I had the zinc roofs taken off of the rest of my factory, and this composition put on, and find it to answer much better, and I cordially recommend it to public favor. J. M. QUINBY.
NEWARK, May 12, 1845.

This is to certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's Composition Roofs on my shop for the last year, and, as far as my experience goes, would recommend it to general use. M. GOULD.
NEWARK, May 16, 1845.

Being well assured, upon particular enquiry, that Bacon's Composition Roofing is in all respects preferable to tin, we have adopted this method of covering our manufactories, Hope Buildings, No. 2, which are 125 by 30 feet.

CONSUMPTIVES OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, ARE YOUR LUNGS OR LIVER DISEASED?—If so, look at the thousands of certificates of the most respectable and influential individuals from all portions of the United States, in testimony of the palliative and curative effects of Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy.

Ask those persons in your own community who have long been in the habit of using this medicine in their families, what are the beneficial results attending its use. We take the liberty of referring, in connection with this notice, to the few among the many in our own county, who are competent to testify in this matter, and only ask them to say in favor of this remedy, what they can say conscientiously, from their own knowledge.

BRONCHITIS CURED.

DR. DUNCAN'S EXPECTORANT REMEDY ALWAYS CURES IF USED IN TIME.—Rev. James Watson, of the Methodist Society, in Philadelphia, was afflicted with this troublesome complaint for several years, which rendered himf unable to attend to his ministerial duties as a preacher o, the Gospel. His symptoms were a dry and painful cough with hoarseness, pain in the chest, side and breast, a sense of suffocation, so much so at times, that he could scarcely get his breath. His body and strength became reduced; countenance pale and sallow, showing all the symptoms of a speedy termination of his life; but fortunately, a lady, one of the members of his church, called to visit him while he lay prostrated upon his sick bed. Beholding his awful situation, she at once advised him to send for "Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy," which he procured at the Philadelphia office, with faint hopes of ever recovering. He commenced using the medicine according to the directions. The effect was wonderful. The first week after using the medicine, the cough ceased; hoarseness disappeared. After using three bottles, his strength began to increase, which enabled him to go down stairs, and by the time he used eight bottles, he found himself a well person, and is now attending to his usual profession.

We, members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, are well acquainted with Father Watson's afflictions, and can certify to the truth of the above.

☞ DR. DUNCAN'S EUROPEAN PANACEA, for the cure of Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, pimples on the face and body, Tetter, Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism, Ulcers and Sores of every description, Syphilis, Scorbutic Affections, Weakness and Debility, Inflammation of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Obstructions and Weakness, and all diseases arising from a torpid condition of the glands, and depravity or impurity of the blood.

The history of this truly Great Medicine is too well known to those who have visited the capitals of England and France, within the last few years, to require any recommendation to them. But for the benefit of the "Invalids of America," it would be proper to say that it is the favorite remedy among the nobility throughout Europe. This Panacea is perhaps the happiest combination of medicinal agents ever made, embracing, as it does, the power of eradicating diseases by its unequalled effects in purifying the blood, renovating the fluids and removing obstructions from the whole glandular apparatus. This medicine goes to work slowly and silently, extending its influence to every organ, giving them vigor and activity, and finally putting the whole machinery of man into complete and healthy action.

A Cheap and Pleasant Remedy!

PRICE'S COMPOUND COUGH CANDY.—This Candy is composed of the extracts of Horehound, Boneset, Seneka, Sarsaparilla, Liverwort, Liquorice Root, Iceland Moss, and Wild Cherry Bark, all combined together in such proportions that makes a medicated compound of vegetable extracts, unrivalled for curing diseases of the Breast and Lungs. Thousands have been relieved by it, after other remedies have failed; and it is this fact that has induced many individuals to imitate it in appearance and sell their productions as a cough candy, which, from its noxious and injurious qualities, have had no other effect than prejudicing the public against the use of this truly medicated compound candy.

Persons suffering from coughs, colds, or hoarseness, will therefore be sure they get Price's Compound Cough Candy, and no other. nov 13-tf

Astonishing---Yet True!

THE TIME has arrived that Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, &c., can be cured—and without the aid of Calomel or any preparation of Mercury whatever. This is effected by Dr. G. S. VALLANDIGHAM's Superior Health Restorative. This extraordinary remedy for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Heartburn, and such other affections as arise from a disordered condition of the digestive organs—the popularity of which is daily increasing, has effected cures which have called forth the warmest praise from those who have been relieved, and excited the wonder and admiration of all around them.—The afflicted will please call, purchase and be restored to health. A word to the wise is sufficient. Delays are dangerous. Why need people pine away with disease, when health can be purchased at so cheap a rate.

The following certificate is from a most respectable citizen of Northern Ohio—a gentleman well known throughout the whole country.

NEW LISBON, Ohio, March 5, 1845.

I do hereby certify, that having for a long time labored under a severe attack of Liver Complaint, and having made use of many remedies without effect, I at length procured some of Dr. G. S. Vallandigham's "Superior Health Restorative," and by use of the same have been restored to health. It affords me pleasure thus to bear my testimony to the efficacy of this medicine in my own case. If others who are similarly afflicted will only make use of this remedy, I think they will never regret it.

HATHAWAY'S PATENT HOT AIR COOKING STOVES.—The subscriber having entered into the Stove business in Pittsburgh, respectfully informs the public that he intends carrying it on in its various branches at the warehouse, No. 124 WOOD STREET, above Fifth street, where he will be prepared to supply purchasers with any articles in his line. In addition to other Stoves which he will have on hand, he has obtained the right to manufacture and sell Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. This stove is pronounced superior to any other now in use in the United States; it is more durable in its construction, and better adapted to the use of baking, roasting and cooking, as it is heated very regularly by confining the air in the stove; and it is a great saving of fuel as well as labor. I will keep on hand a sufficient number to supply all demands, if possible; I have five different sizes, and will sell them on reasonable terms, according to the sizes. I have now in use upwards of fifty in and about this city; all put in use within six months. Being aware that the people of western Pennsylvania have been imposed upon by the introduction of new and highly recommended Stoves, which were badly constructed, and have soon failed and become useless, I therefore will grant to persons wishing to prove the Hot Air Stove, the privilege of using it a sufficient length of time to prove its superior quality before I ask them to purchase. Persons notifying me from a distance by letter, can have stoves put up at any time, as I have wagons to carry them out; I therefore invite Farmers and all persons to come and judge for themselves; also to try them and prove that it is to your advantage to have one. All orders will be promptly attended to by the subscriber.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Miller's Mansion House, Sept. 19, 1844.

Mr. R. Donovan—Sir: I have in use one of Hathaway's Hot Air Cooking Stoves, which I got from you last spring. It affords me much pleasure to recommend it for its excellence. So far as my knowledge extends, I have no hesitation in saying it is the best now in use. I need not particularize its merits, but would advise all disposed to possess an article of the kind, to adopt the best method of satisfying themselves, that is, to try it; and I doubt not they will be satisfied. D. R. MILLER.

Washington Temperance House,
Pittsburgh, Sept. 19, 1844.

Mr. R. Donovan—Sir: I have had in use for five months one of Hathaway's Hot Air Cooking Stoves, and I have no hesitation in saying it is the best stove now in use. The various kinds of cooking it is calculated to do at the same time, and the small quantity of fuel required, makes it an object worthy the attention of all who desire a good stove. THOMAS VARNER.

☞ I embrace this opportunity to recommend the Hot Air Cooking Stoves; I have used the one you put up for me constantly all summer, and I must say it is a grand article; I believe it is superior to any other stove now in use in this city. The oven bakes well, and is large enough to bake four large loaves of bread at one time; it also cooks very speedy, and it requires very little coal. I think them woqthy the attention of all who wish a good stove: to such I would say, try them, and see what they are. [oct 7] MATTHEW PATRICK.
